

EULAR 2022 European Congress of Rheumatology has applied to MedTech Europe's Conference Vetting System

In alignment with MedTech Europe and EFPIA's assessment requirement, with the objective to ensure consistency and harmonisation across the healthcare industry for the benefit of all stakeholders involved, EULAR has applied and is currently under assessment for its upcoming medical conference, the EULAR 2022 European Congress of Rheumatology. The provisional decision will be communicated on the www.ethicalmedtech.eu website, with a note that the conference will remain under a provisional status until 35 days prior to the conference starting date.

MedTech Europe, the trade association representing the medical technologies industry in Europe, and EFPIA, the European Federation of Pharmaceutical Industries and Associations, have a long-standing experience and commitment to strong ethical principles for the support provided in the context of medical congresses.

Assessment principles

“Each educational event submitted under the Conference Vetting System for assessment is evaluated by the Compliance Officer in accordance with the principles and standards set out in the MedTech Europe Code of Ethical Business Practice. Image and perception projected to the public when industry wishes to support a particular event are determinant in the assessment decisions under CVS”.

Exhibitors at EULAR 2022

We kindly ask exhibitors at EULAR 2022 to ensure alignment with the principles and standards set out in the MedTech Europe Code of Ethical Business Practice.
